This tentative schedule is provided as an aid for course planning. It is a listing of the most likely offerings during the upcoming several semesters. Although the discrepancies will be relatively few, class offerings are dependent on availability of rooms, instructors and sufficient student interest. This tentative schedule is not to be viewed as a contract – changes are possible. Although occasionally a projected class may not be offered, it is more likely that classes in addition to those projected will be offered.

It is likely that a review of the offerings of the Department will be conducted during this time period. This review could result in a reorganizing and restructuring of the Department's offerings. Any restructuring will widely communicated through classes, social media, etc.

D = Class start time will be prior to 5:00 pm.

N/O = Class will either be offered online or in the evening (5:00 pm or later).
